WHO THE HELL IS CHUCK?

Born and raised in California, Chuck always knew he had something to say. At the tender age of 19 began writing and recording radio commercials. These weren't the ordinary radio-schlock ads, they sparked controversy and garnered Chuck a reputation for having a notorious tongue. As his popularity grew, Chuck's style made him a popular guest on various morning shows, and eventually led to his own radio show on KMBY in Monterey California.

Chuck then began producing television commercials and TV segments for local shows. He spent two years as a writer and actor for "Kill Ugly Television", a weekly skit-based comedy show in the San Francisco Bay Area. All the time Chuck began to show a strong interest in standup comedy and develop a venom and hatred for the inane.

Now an Australian Citizen, Chuck has worked his way to the top of the open-mic set, opening for many of Sydney's top comedians. He does American voiceovers, hosted the Morning Show on RadioKaos and had his own segment on the internationally syndicated "Planet Rock" as, you guessed it, a pissed-off American.
